4/26/04 R00-02-004 Order Instituting Rulemaking on the Commission's own motion to establish consumer rights and consumer protection rules applicable to all telecommunications utilities.

Summary: On April 21, 2004, Peter A. Casciato, attorney for Time Warner Telecom of California, LP, (Time Warner), met with Tom Long, advisor to Cmmr. Lynch, and Lester Wong, advisor to Pres. Peevey, in two separate meetings in San Francisco. Casciato stated that Time Warner supported a change to the definition of a small business to that of a business with less than a T-1 line or 20 channels. Casciato advised the Commission that this is a reasonable line to draw to identify sophisticated customers who generally contract for this level of service.

Casciato stated that Metro One supported ALJ Pulsifer's draft decision or Cmmr. Peevey's alternate decision if modified in accordance with the comments filed by Metro One, LSSi Corp and MCI.

Summary: On April 26, 2004, James Weil, Director of Aglet Consumer Alliance (Aglet), participated in a meeting with Cmmr. Brown in San Francisco. Also present were David Gamson, advisor to Cmmr. Brown, Mark Pocha for the Office of Ratepayer Advocates, Brian Cherry, Karen Tomcala, Patrick Golden, Bruce Smith and Jennifer Berman for Pacific Gas and Electric Company (PG&E), and Robert Finkelstein for The Utility Reform Network. Weil stated that Aglet supports the distribution and generation settlements that are the subject of the proposed decision of ALJ Halligan. Weil indicated that Aglet took a lead role in litigation of attrition issues. Weil noted that Aglet estimates that the two settlements will save ratepayers approximately $213 million during the years 2004, 2005 and 2006. Weil stated that the settlements are compromises of strongly held views. Weil explained that reliance on the Consumer Price Index rather than utility-specific escalation rates to calculate attrition allowances will benefit ratepayers.

Summary: On April 26, 2003, Marc Joseph, attorney for the Coalition of California Utility Employees (CUE), had two separate telephone conversations: with Bill Julian, advisor to Cmmr. Wood; and with Cmmr. Peevey. Art Carter, representing CUE, was participating in the communication with Cmmr. Peevey. Joseph stated that the proposed decision (PD) on storm and reliability issues should be modified to establish the standard of reasonable performance at the levels that the PD calculated based on the reliability improvements being funded in the general rate case, rather than at historic performance levels. Joseph also stated that Pacific Gas and Electric Company (PG&E) should be given performance incentives analogous to those for Southern California Edison Company and San Diego Gas & Electric Company, but that according to the PD, no additional revenue was required for PG&E to be able to improve its performance.

	I02-06-002	Investigation on the Commission's own motion into the rates, operations, practices, services and facilities of Southern California Edison Company.

Summary: On April 26, 2003, Marc Joseph, attorney for the Coalition of California Utility Employees (CUE), participated in an all-party meeting with Cmmr. Wood in San Francisco. Also present were Steven Weissman and Manuel Ramirez, advisors to Cmmr. Wood, Marc Pocha for the Office of Ratepayer

Advocates, Bruce Foster and Frank Cooley for Southern California Edison Company (Edison), Robert Gnaizda for The Greenlining Institute, Marcel Hawiger for The Utility Reform Network, and Jim Weil for Aglet Consumer Alliance. Joseph stated that the Commission should adopt the settlement of reliability and employee safety performance incentives reached by CUE and Edison. Joseph stated that while it is easy for labor to prefer Cmmr. Kennedy's alternate decision (AD), and that many of Edison's criticisms of the proposed decision were correct, it was hard to support that AD if Edison did not have incentives to actually spend the money. Joseph also explained the differences between CUE's original proposal and the CUE/Edison settlement and why the settlement was preferable.
